A sentleman who came from Pitishned esterday brought a report which seems very strange in view of the fact that none matter. He says, and gives so many details that his story has a strong air of probability, that a secret meeting was held at Pittsburgh early this reck between the nail manufacturers and the striking employes for the purpose of talking over the situstion with a view to arriving at some com promise by which the strike there could be settled. He did not know at whose instance the meeting was held, but said his information was that the object of those interested in maintaining secrety was

A Fashionsbly Dressed Woman Found Dead in Lake Michigan.

CHICAGO, ILIS, NOV. 20.—Last night W.
F. McClure, while making a call at a house on Oak street, heard the sppealing cries of a woman from the Lake. He ran to the shore, and seeing her struggling in the water, summoned the police. The patrol wegon arrived, and with a hook attached to a rope, got her out of the water. She was not far from the pier. When taken out she was dead. A heavy cloak and the furs she wore kept her from sinking. She is a handsome looking, dark complexioned woman, about thirty years old, with black hair. She was finely and fashionably dressed. The body was removed to the morgue.

fashionably dressed. The body was removed to the morgus.

Mr. McClure says that on nearing the Lake heaswa man jump into a buggy near the spot and hurriedly drive away. This gave rise to the suspicion that the woman had been foully dealt with, but on the arrival of an officer who said he had met two men himself driving in a buggy, who told him that they had heard a woman scream in the Luke at the foot of Oak street, tended to destroy that suspicion.

The Pitteburgh nailers were represented as jublant over the evident desire of the manufacturers without regard to the length of time the strike lasted.

Before she could ask them to call again the men rushed in, blindfolded Mrs. Gaw, threw her on the lounge and demanded to see some pension pension papers of herhusband, who is in an insane asylum. These secured, the men removed the bandsge and compelled the woman to attach her signature to certain papers. Mrs. Gaw did not learn the purpert of the document, but feared she has renounced the guardianship of her husband, and that the strangers intend in some way to dijert his One of the most notable of the many handsome leatures in the handsome and elegant Reilly block just erected at the corner of Fourteenth and Market streets is the large sheets of plate glass that are so lavishly used in the front and Fourteenth street sides. Nearly every one supposes it to be the genuine French article and this supposition is a perfectly natural and excusable one, for the glass in clearness, finish and general appearance is calculated to deceive. It is of American manufacture, however, being made by the Pittsburgh Plate Glass Company at its works at Creighton, Pa.
